Portfolio

I have curated and designed my own website featuring my works that act as my portfolio. I've created it from scratch from a front-end framework using Bootstrap.

ABOUT ME

A Computer Science & Engineering student aspiring to become a Back-End Developer in the near future. I particularly enjoy learning programming languages and creating automated scripts. Actively looking for challenging projects that will contribute to my knowledge in the field. For more information on my skills check my website or GitHub profile.
